

Component deployment

Indeed PAM includes a large number of components that can be installed on different servers. The choice of deployment scheme depends on the test and operational scenarios. The schemes described below are not final, the composition of components, servers and their roles may vary.